Professional Development Training Course Outline

Category	Public Sector Innovation	Duration	5 Days
Base Fee	$1,500 USD	Delivery Mode	Online / On-site Hybrid

Course Introduction

The public sector plays a pivotal role in shaping equitable policies, fostering inclusive workplaces, and promoting social justice. Anti-Racism Policy Design in Public Sector Training Course equips government professionals, policymakers, and organizational leaders with the knowledge, tools, and strategies to identify systemic racism, implement effective anti-racism frameworks, and develop policies that promote diversity, equity, and inclusion. Participants will explore contemporary approaches to policy analysis, legal frameworks, community engagement, and organizational transformation, ensuring that public institutions not only comply with anti-discrimination standards but also lead proactive efforts to dismantle institutional bias.

This course emphasizes practical application, combining evidence-based research with interactive case studies and collaborative exercises. By integrating global best practices and trending anti-racism strategies, participants will learn to design policies that address racial inequities, enhance organizational accountability, and promote cultural competency across departments. This program provides public sector leaders with actionable insights to cultivate inclusive environments, strengthen community trust, and embed anti-racism principles into institutional structures and processes.
