Category	Banking Institute	Duration	5 Days
Base Fee	$1,500 USD	Delivery Mode	Online / On-site Hybrid

Course Introduction

Loan Review Techniques for Banks Training Course designed to strengthen credit risk management, loan portfolio quality, regulatory compliance, and sustainable lending practices within modern financial institutions. As banks face increasing challenges from economic volatility, credit defaults, regulatory scrutiny, digital lending growth, and evolving borrower risks, effective loan review processes have become essential for maintaining asset quality, profitability, and financial stability. This course equips banking professionals with advanced skills in loan portfolio analysis, credit assessment, risk-based review methodologies, early warning systems, loan classification, and impairment evaluation aligned with global banking standards and best practices.

The program focuses on practical approaches to conducting independent loan reviews, identifying credit weaknesses, evaluating underwriting standards, and improving lending decisions through data-driven insights. Participants will explore Basel credit risk principles, IFRS 9 expected credit loss concepts, regulatory examination expectations, credit monitoring frameworks, and portfolio stress testing techniques. Through interactive exercises, real-world case studies, and industry examples, participants will develop the capability to enhance credit governance, loan recovery strategies, risk mitigation frameworks, and overall banking resilience.
